

A large, modern, light-colored industrial building with a dark grey corner section. The building features several windows and air conditioning units. On the roof, there are two large white water tanks. The building is situated behind a concrete wall.

A long, low concrete wall with a repeating pattern of small rectangular openings, likely for ventilation or security. The wall is situated in front of the main building.

A dark red SUV parked on a dirt lot. A white car is partially visible behind it. The ground is uneven and appears to be under construction or recently cleared.

Other buildings in the background, including a yellow one and a grey one, suggesting an industrial or commercial area.

A grey building on the far right side of the image, partially obscured by the foreground.

